

SAVORING NATURE'S FRUITS!©

Are you ready for a “faux” “screwdriver” or “salty dog” – both using a Meyer lemon juice base in lieu of the respective orange juice or grapefruit juice that is normally used together with vodka? How about a very special Brazilian “Caipirinha” using Meyer lemon juice in lieu of the conventional lime juice, as used together with “cachaca” (a distilled spirit from sugar cane)?

Hey, the noted alternatives to these cocktails could be an interesting experiment so I intend to give it a try! What else could I do with the 16 rapidly-maturing fruits on my pool-deck-side potted Meyer lemon plant? So, savoring them in the form of some innovative cocktails is my best guess! Any other ideas that YOU may have certainly would be food for thought! The following shows the current state of my plant!

If I happen to still be around after all the aforementioned experimentation, I'll let you know the results, but quite honestly, I do expect a favorable outcome! So, “CHEERS” in advance!
