

SOLO TRANQUILLITA' (ONLY TRANQUILITY)®

by Dan Pemble, Kissimmee, Florida – March 12, 2026

By now I believe that most of us have seen the advertisements on our TV's as related to what are being called "Panda Drums" or "Tongue Drums". There is no question that their demonstrated soft and mellow tones instill feeling of calmness and tranquility! I am very pleased to say that my forever-innovative wife, knowing that I am a music lover, has recently gifted me with a small (3-inch-diameter version of this unique instrument similar to the one shown below, and it has truly-amazing sound qualities!

Although I do indeed love all kinds of music, I have never attempted to master any particular musical instrument, although I have been trying to teach myself how to play drums for a number of years and there are a number of years to go at this point! I can say for sure that this miniature "tongue drum" I now have is far more than a toy and once you stroke it a few times, its seemingly-magical tones will offer you true tranquility and at the same time offers you unlimited possibilities to compose your own music! In fact my own initial experience at this point is that once you strike your very first tone, you will find it very hard not to spend some additional time with your own experimentation!

In closing, if you want to experience some true tranquility, as can be created by your own hands, it is highly recommended that you find this "magic" as offered by tongue and panda drums! I'm sure you will not be disappointed!
